

About us.

Company history

Peter Nürk, a business information technologist, founds ORCON GmbH in 1992.

„DV Organisation und Beratung“, in Englisch „ORganization and CONsulting“ - short ORCON.

He is convinced of the idea of offering standard software that is individually configurable. Adaptations are not simply packed into a program, rather the variable data from tables and databases are specifically incorporated.

This significantly reduces the ever more complex and time-consuming adjustments required for updates. In addition, individual customer wishes can be easily implemented and made available to other customers as added value.

This is one of the secrets that makes Phoenix/PDM so popular with users.

Today, Phoenix/PDM from ORCON is one of the few independent and established software solutions from Germany, which ensure the reliable administration and distribution of product information in companies.

2017 - 25 years of ORCON

Over 25 years without software break

Many of the first customers today are still loyal ORCON customers. It goes without saying that they access their digital archives from back then and have never experienced a software break in the entire application period of more than 25 years.

That this is by no means normal is known by everyone who has followed the period of time somewhat. The broad field of CAD providers has shrunk and is characterised by takeovers. Even large suppliers of CAD systems have not managed to offer their customers integrated and continuous solutions for drawing management.

The change of the terms from beginning drawing administration (DA) to Product Data Management (PDM) and from the late 1990s to Product Lifecycle Management (PLM) did not change anything about it. It only documents the change in the awareness that digital design data is interesting for all areas of the company. They significantly accelerate the development process from the initial idea to the product ready for sale and on to service and support. In addition, they make this success-critical process much more effective and error-free than ever before.

Evolutionary principle for all

ORCON has never been concerned with terminology. Rather, the focus was always on a holistic view and value for the customer, coupled with a deep understanding of the company's processes.

With each new customer, useful functions have flowed into Phoenix/PDM. Peter Nürk holds it in this place with the musketeers: „One for all - all for one“. In other words: every single function does not originate from the theoretical pen of a programmer or from the imagination of a marketing expert. It comes from the direct practice of the daily requirement.

Phoenix/PDM is thus the derivative of over 25 years of project experience and has undergone a veritable evolutionary process. Similar to a bird of prey that originated from the Archaeopteryx primeval bird in the course of time. Today, it glides highly efficiently there and perceives everything with sharp eyes in its surroundings in order to make targeted loot. It is the result of constant optimization and improves with each generation.

The right product data management for your success.
